ORDINANCES ADOPTED AT BETHEL MEETING—GOULD GIVES $3,500

Some 60 Bethel citizens chose the officers for the coming year during the daytime session of the annual town meeting Monday. The entire slate was elected as printed on the ballot, changes from last year being Addison C. Saunders succeeding T. Richard Carter as selectman and assessor, and George P. Stowell Jr. replacing Burton Newton on the school committee. The officers:

Selectmen and Assessors—Carroll E. Abbott, Harold G. Bennett, John H. Carter, Addison C. Saunders, Robert S. York.

Clerk—Margaret H. Baker

School Committee—George P. Stowell Jr.

The evening session consumed nearly three hours in action on the 60-article warrant. Appropriations followed the suggestions of the Budget Committee, with the exception of the school lunch question. It was decided to use the interest of the Ministerial and School Fund to overcome the lunch deficit.

Town Manager Rozelle and the Selectmen were called upon several times for explanations of various conditions, some of which were already well covered in the text of the town report. Addison Saunders, as chairman of the Budget Committee, told of his committee's reasons for recommendations, when called upon, and most of the appropriations were granted with little or no discord.

The article relating to safekeeping of town records, which has been under consideration for several years, was given an appropriation of $1500. It is believed that a fireproof building, large enough to house the present old records and others to be added for some time, can be constructed for this sum. The location was not decided.

The gift of $3,500 from the trustees of Gould Academy to aid in the purchase of the new Mack pump, was announced by Manager Rozelle, and Headmaster Ireland of the Academy read the letter, to that effect. After the town voted to accept the gift, Mr. Ireland presented the check for this amount to Mr. Rozelle.

A motion by John Greenleaf for appropriation of $100 for support of Rumford hospital was defeated by a 23-21 vote after remarks by Mr. Greenleaf and Paul Thurston. The $200 donation, as last year, was then granted.

The appropriation of $4,000 for direct lighting was explained by Mr. Rozelle to be sufficient to finance the present system, including the mercury vapor lights at the junctions at West and East Bethel, and provide for 10 of these lights on Main Street replacing 14 of the older type. He stated that the old lights, rated at 8,000 lumens, cost $35 each per year, while the 20,000 lumen mercury vapor lights cost $150 each. Two of the new lights were installed last week on upper Main Street to show the improvement to be expected.

The town ordinance as presented by the Selectmen were adopted with three amendments and an amendment. Article 1, Section 12, relating to town pay of firemen. Article 3, Section 6, prohibiting playing ball and throwing stones, etc., in the streets and Article 4, Section 7, on road coverings were rejected. Article 5, Section 1, on outside trash cans was amended to include the town as well as village. These changes will become effective when adopted by the Town Council and approved by a Justice of the Superior Court.

It was voted to continue the Fireman's Relief and Indemnity Fund bank account on former payments from this account are to be made on recommendation of the Fire Chief and Engineers and approval of the Selectmen.

Some of the map photographs of the town, to be used in the revaluation program, were displayed in the hall and drew much attention.

ACROSS the DESK

Ideas from other editors

From the Kenosha Herald, Kenosha, Wisconsin: "The common sense, dedicated to the idea of seeing that everybody gets a square deal will tell you that there are never less than two sides to any issue—like the racial problems facing us today. Men devoted to the task of preserving freedom and the equality for all races, colors and creeds in this country—are the first to observe—and to urge us to observe—both sides carefully and without prejudice."

The south must take the lead in looking at THE OTHER SIDE of this problem—even in the face of charges on "intimidation"—which no doubt will be made. The danger lies in those radical elements of both parties—who, while devout and sincere themselves in what they are doing—let their emotion become a powder keg which can fan a spark into an out-of-control conflagration. This must never happen for many reasons.

This newspaper urges everyone to stop a minute and give thought to the issue. Search your heart—ask yourself—what do I really believe? How do I feel about integrating the races—right here in Alabama—to my home town in my school?

The answer must come from you. This newspaper cannot answer it—any more than the nine men who make up our supreme court. They decision is now in your hands where it rightly belonged from the beginning. You are perhaps the first people the world has known with both the power and capability of governing yourselves.

Certainly today, our enemies the communists are watching us carefully for signs of inner turmoil and weakness. The avowed purpose of our enemies is to first divide us, then weaken us, enslave us—and then destroy us.

This is reason number one why we must resolve this race issue quickly—and without a minimum of fuss among ourselves.

While it goes without repeating that we have enemies in the world—thankfully, we have friends also. And they too are observing us carefully, anxiously. For never before in the world's history has freedom been so perilously close to eclipse. Without the support of this nation—freedom would die before tomorrow's sun—except in men's hearts.

Today . . . after two great conflicts—and concerned as we are with the daily struggle of making a living, we find it rather easy to just sort of drift with the tide—making only token objections to the principles and ideas which we know aren't quite right—but we let them pass—vowing to buttress them tomorrow.

This attitude will no longer suffice if freedom is to live.

Economic Highlights . . . . .

Happenings That Affect the Future of Every Individual—National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare.

The big long-range goal of leading labor unions is pay-by-the-hour instead of by the hour—that is, a guaranteed annual wage. A start, albeit a modest one, was made in the Ford and General Motors contracts of last year. It is no secret that union officials are looking forward to greater achievements in the future.

But, if and when pay-by-the-hour becomes a reality, there will have to be drastic changes in the attitudes of the unions. That is the theme of a thought-provoking article by Harold J. Rottenberg which originally appeared in Harper's Magazine and has been reprinted in condensed form by The Reader's Digest.

Mr. Rottenberg is in an unusual position. In 1943 he was an economist for the CIO (Congress of Industrial Organizations) and an advocate of pay-by-the-hour. Now he is president of a machinery company whose workers belong to the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America. He is paid by the hour.

IN ENGLAND WITH MISS LAURA WILSON

December 25, 1955

Dear Folks,

Merry Christmas! I imagine that you are not up yet, for it is only ten o'clock here. If my reckoning is right, it is only five o'clock in Bethel, Maine.

Let me tell you about the place I'm staying. Jane Compton, with whom I start for Spain at 9:05 a. m. from Victoria Station, London, tomorrow morning, knew that there was a place for a foreign student in Bristol, but I couldn't make up my mind whether or not to go that far from London—a two-and-a-half hour train ride when I could spend the day with the Quakers. However, I finally decided to see Christmas in a home. I am so glad I did, for I am with the two loveliest spinster sisters and their father. I feel that perhaps I am brightening up their day as well as their brightening up mine. Both of them have a wonderful sense of humor. This morning they have been telling me about the boy whom they adopted eight years ago. He is now 19, in the R. A. P., and spending his first Christmas away from home.

I arrived here yesterday noon-time. In the afternoon they had some presents to deliver at friends' so I went along. Everyone is so friendly and interested. I have long since determined to invite foreign students into my home whenever possible! One appreciates so much being able to meet people on their own ground, so to speak. One doesn't care or notice what station in life the people show by the splendor of their home. Rather interest centers in the people themselves who are much more at ease in their homes than at the local church or club meeting.

Last night one sister cooked while the other sister and I decorated. Over here they decorated for Christmas just like we would decorate for a party. Balloons and streamers. We climbed up on high ladders, on tables, on chairs, draping decorations from ceiling to window and back up to ceiling again. Holly and mistletoe also play an important part in the decorations. There is no Christmas tree, however. Some homes have them.

Every city has a tree in the square all decorated with electric lights and "snow." One evening Jane and I went down to Trafalgar Square in London to sing carols around the tree—this takes place every evening for a week before Christmas. Trafalgar Square is beautiful at night—two fountains lighted up. There is a large statue of Nelson—the famous general who won the naval battle of Trafalgar. (I think!)

This morning I was served tea in bed along with a present—some candy, a cake of soap, and a beautiful handkerchief. They have tea in bed every Saturday and Sunday morning.

Soon we will go down to the Methodist Church. These people are Methodists. Rather wise, huh? Everyone in England is Anglican, except the Methodists!

4:00 P. M.
Now you must be either in church or over to Gramme's for the tree. The church service was wonderful. The rest of the day has been very peaceful and quiet. We had a huge dinner—chicken, sausage (always served with fowl), bread crumbs for the chicken, pan-browned potatoes, gravy, broccoli, and Christmas pudding. I ain't eat again for awhile. At three we listened to the speech of the Queen. She has a lovely speaking voice. You have no idea how much the English people love her.

"God Save the Queen" is played at the end of every public performance—even in the movies.

Well, in another three hours and a half I shall hop a train to London arriving there at ten thirty. Guess what! I am succeeding in

DALE CARNEGIE

★ AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING" ★

DONALD M. LEDBETTER, 150 Dille Place, Memphis, Tennessee, says when the Republican administration took over in 1952 he found himself in hot water, along with a lot of other government employees who had gained promotions under the Democratic administration.

Following the election, rumors were rampant as to who would be let out. One day a very close friend made a special trip out to his home to talk to him about the rumors. Since Donald himself was not at home, this friend proceeded to tell his wife of the rumors making the rounds at the office.

He said he had heard no criticism of Donald or of his efficiency, but he had heard that he was due to be removed simply because there were too many faithful Republicans around the office who deserved to have the job. Did his wife worry about this? She did not. She merely laughed and said she appreciated their friend's concern but that long ago they placed their faith in One who was neither Democrat or Republican. She told him that if it hadn't been the Lord's will for Donald to have the job, he would not have had it in the first place, and if he should be removed they would know that it was for the best.

Time has passed and Donald still holds the same position, but he declares that if he should be removed tomorrow, it wouldn't be a calamity for he truly believes that "all things work together for good to them that love the Lord."
